- A. TRP owns, or possesses a license to use, sell, distribute and sublicense, (i) certain computer software programs more particularly described as a program designed to organize and track treatment and compliance of Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT) patients (the "Software"), together with any updates or additions to the Software, and printed user information accompanying the Software, collectively known as the "System".
- B. Customer desires to obtain a license to use the Software.
- C. This Agreement sets forth the terms and conditions upon which TRP will license the Software to Customer.

Terms and Conditions:

1. SOFTWARE LICENSE

1.1. Grant of License. Subject to compliance by Customer with the terms and conditions of this Agreement, TRP grants to Customer a nontransferable, non-assignable, non-sublicense-able, non-exclusive license (the "License") to use the Software for areas as indicated on the Term and Signature Sheet.

Such License is for Customer's use to the extent the Software is accessed through a web browser ("Web Portal Component"), which will allow Customer to use and access the Software remotely via the Internet, as set forth in this Section 1.1. Customer may use and access the Software on an unlimited number of Customer's computers, including laptop computers and off-site computers, for use only by Customer employees, and independent contractors (referred to herein collectively as the "Customer Personnel") or other third party (in each case, an "Authorized Third Party") in the ordinary course of Customer's operations.

1.2 Use of the Software.

(a) The Software may be used by Customer to process clinical information related to providing Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT).

(b) Notwithstanding the foregoing Section 1.2(a), Customer shall not (i) use the Software other than for Customer's patients in the designated area; or (ii) except with TRP's advance approval in writing, process, or permit to be processed through or on the Software, the data of any person other than Customer's patients. Additionally, Customer shall not copy, create derivative works, reverse engineer, de-compile, disassemble, transmit or otherwise utilize the Software or database design in any way not delineated in this Agreement, nor shall Customer display the Software or database design to third parties except Customer Personnel without the prior express written permission of TRP.

1.3 Ownership. Subject to the License, all title, ownership and intellectual property rights in the Software, including without limitation, trade secrets and copyrights, shall remain in TRP and/or its third-party suppliers at all times. Customer acknowledges such ownership and intellectual property rights and will not take any action to jeopardize, limit or interfere in any manner with such rights of TRP with respect to the Software and further acknowledges that the Software is protected by United States copyright law and trade secret law and international treaty provisions, regardless of whether any notice of TRP's copyright interests are contained or displayed therein. Customer may not remove, destroy or obscure the copyright, proprietary, confidential or trade secret notices contained in the Software or any copies thereof.

1.4 Modifications; Enhancements. TRP reserves the right, in the best interest of improving the Software, at TRP's sole discretion, to make changes to the Software. During the Term of this Agreement and provided that Customer has not breached this Agreement in any way, TRP shall make available to Customer periodic "updates" to the current versions of the Software at no additional charge to Customer. An "Update" means a modification, correction, or enhancement to the Software only that is generally provided to all customers of the TRP Software as part of the TRP standard software support. The content of all such "updates", as well as their frequency of release, are solely determined by TRP. Customer shall not in any way modify the Software except as may specifically be permitted in this Agreement. All such updates will be subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement. Updates may require additional hardware and/or software to be purchased or licensed at Customer's expense. At TRP's sole discretion, TRP may also offer to Customer from time to time, "new modules or products", separate from routine updates, at an additional charge or fee. All improvements, updates, modifications or enhancements, whether made, created or developed by TRP or Customer, relating to the Software, and, whether or not conceived or made under this Agreement, are and shall remain the property of TRP. Customer shall not in any way modify the Software except as specifically be permitted in this Agreement.

1.5 Access Functions. At Customer's option, the Software may be configured by Customer to enable access to Customer's data with password protection to enable the accessing party to view specific clinical information. Customer, and not TRP, is solely responsible for the distribution and safeguard of any such passwords and access protocols and for any acts or omissions of any party accessing the Software.

1.6 Third-Party Licenses. Customer acknowledges that use of the Software may require Customer to use certain third-party software ("Third Party Software"), and Customer acknowledges and agrees that it shall obtain the requisite consent to use such third-party software and pay any associated costs and that TRP is not required to obtain such consent with respect to Customer's use of the Software or pay any of such costs unless otherwise specified in this Agreement. Software support service will not include support for any Third-Party Software unless support for such software is indicated in this Agreement or in a Subsequent Order, and Customer is paying an applicable Software Support Fee for said Third Party Software and said Software Support Service will be rendered only to the extent necessary to operate TRP Software.
